

PSGW Health and Safety Considerations for 2022

We have come so far! And we still have a ways to go until we are beyond the COVID-19 era, so we are taking precautions for everyone's safety. We do have some guidelines for all of us to follow while at camp.

Everyone who comes to camp:

- must be fully vaccinated against COVID according to the CDC definition of two doses of the COVID vaccine, completed at least fourteen days before arriving at camp.
- must have received a COVID vaccine booster (third or fourth shot) if eligible. Boosters reduce the risk of infection and prevent severe disease in older and more vulnerable individuals. If you have a documented medical contraindication to receiving a booster, please request an exemption, and we will contact you with details of the exemption criteria and process. We will review and consider all exemption requests in light of the most current CDC guidelines.
- must provide proof of vaccination and boosters. (vaccination card or record on phone).
- must sign a waiver and test for COVID upon arrival. PSGW will provide you with a COVID test. You will administer the test on yourself. We'll give you complete instructions on how to do this.
  - A negative test and a signed waiver are required for your entrance to camp.
  - If you test positive, you may not enter camp. Your payment for camp will be refunded in full.
- agrees that if they come down with symptoms at camp, they will need to take another test. If the results are positive they will need to leave the site and we will prorate a refund.
- agrees that camp, like any gathering, poses health risks. We will do our best to keep everyone safe but in the event that you get sick at camp, you have signed a waiver agreeing to hold harmless PSGW Board members and contractors.

Pilgrim Firs follows the current Washington State guidelines for health and safety in regard to food service, hospitality, and COVID protocols. Currently all employees of Pilgrim Firs are required to be vaccinated.
